FROM THE PRESIDENT

Greg Radford

Greetings! I am pleased to welcome you to our first newsletter of 2014. This year will be a transition year for IAIA, which is both sad and exciting. Rita Hamm has retired as our dedicated and compassionate leader, and this is a big loss for the IAIA family. Rita has worked tirelessly for decades to ensure IAIA's success and longevity. A successful team is a group of many hands but of one mind; Rita was the ultimate team player. We were fortunate to work with Rita and wish her a happy retirement!

The Board of Directors has initiated the process of hiring our next Executive Director. An external HR professional was hired to manage the recruitment process and to report to the Board. The job opening was posted in December and January and we are excited to be able to hire our next Executive Director in 2014. In the interim, we are very fortunate that Wes Fisher accepted the Board's request to act as Interim Executive Director to ensure everything continues to run smoothly. Wes has been involved with the management of IAIA for many years and is well known to our HQ staff. Thanks, Wes!

Our annual conference scheduled for 8-11 April 2014 is fast approaching, and a huge amount of work has been happening behind the scenes to make the "Impact Assessment for Social and Economic Development" conference in the beautiful Viña del Mar, Chile, a huge success. The Chilean organizing committee was very active at the Calgary annual conference, and they have since been working tirelessly to organize a fantastic conference in the coastal city of Viña del Mar. The technical visits alone are worth the trip! Registration is open, so I hope you register soon to guarantee your spot (the conference facility does have a maximum).

See you in Chile!

SOUTH ASIAN ENVIRONMENTAL ASSESSMENT CONFERENCE 2013: RAISING THE BAR ON REGIONAL COOPERATION

The Government of Pakistan and the International Union for Conservation of Nature (IUCN) jointly organized the South Asian Environmental Assessment Conference 2013 (SAEAC 13) in Islamabad, Pakistan, from 4-5 December 2013. As the first IAIA-supported conference in the region, it brought together over 300 environmental professionals and policy makers from 14 countries. SAEAC 13 was organized under the National Impact Assessment Programme in Pakistan, which is funded by the Netherlands Government and supported by the Netherlands Commission for Environmental Assessment.

Panelists at SAEAC 13

Session posters on display

SAEAC 13 served as a forum to facilitate cross-fertilization of ideas and experiences between South Asian countries and to promote South-South cooperation. The theme of the conference was "Raising the Bar on Regional Cooperation," and it was the first time that South Asian experts engaged in a dialogue on how to address regional challenges such as climate change and trans-boundary water sharing using impact assessment tools.

Sixteen technical sessions were conducted on context-specific issues in the South Asian region. Five pre-conference training courses were offered that addressed capacity needs of the regional professionals in specific areas of impact assessment.

A media launch event formally introduced SAEAC 13 to prominent local and international media representatives, and a poster exhibition on impact assessment was also organized to demonstrate work of Pakistani design students. Delegates were offered a taste of the Pakistani culture at the opening evening, which was filled with local food, music, and dance.

SAEAC 13 was a high-profile event, with Mr Sartaj Aziz, the Advisor to the Prime Minister on National Security and Foreign Affairs inaugurating the conference in the presence of various notables. IAIA was represented by Dr. Miguel Coutinho, President-Elect, at the conference. At the close of SAEAC 13, delegates adopted the "Islamabad Declaration on Impact Assessment – A Common Vision on Environmental Assessment for South Asia." The Declaration recognizes the role of EIA/SEA in addressing challenges of sustainable development in the region. The delegates committed to taking this forum forward to strengthen environmental assessment in the region.

RESEARCH CORNER

INPUT INVITED FROM STUDENTS, SCHOLARS

One of IAIA's strategic goals is to make contributions, advancements and disseminate IA research. Among IAIA's members are several junior and established scholars who are passionate about impact assessment (IA) and bring that enthusiasm into their research. Master's and Ph.D. students in particular are close to the "sharp end" of innovative and original IA research, contributing to the advancement of the theory and practice of IA and providing up-to-date breadth and depth of knowledge on cross-cutting themes and topical issues.

The IA Research Corner is intended to provide students, as well as more senior scholars, an opportunity to inform other IAIA members about their research topics, disseminate knowledge, communicate findings, or seek contributions.

Contributions to this feature are invited. Text should be no longer than 300 words and may be sent to shelli@iaia.org.

AEIAN HONORS OUTGOING DIRECTOR OF EA IN THE FEDERAL MINISTRY OF ENVIRONMENT

On 26 September 2013, the Association for Environmental Impact Assessment of Nigeria (AEIAN), IAIA's pilot affiliate in Nigeria, held a special session to honor the retiring Director of Environmental Assessment in the Federal Ministry of Environment, Dr. Mrs. M.T. Odubela. Dr. Odubela is an astute environmentalist and one of the pillars of the AEIAN in Nigeria. She distinguished herself driving key improvements in IA practice in Nigeria during her tenure.

The Director of Environmental Assessment has key responsibility for managing the national IA framework in Nigeria. We wish Dr. Odubela happy retirement.

MPUMALANGA BRANCH HOSTS EIA COURSE

Participants discuss EIA at a course presented by Sean O'Beirne in Nelspruit.

The IAIAAsa Mpumalanga branch hosted a course entitled "Upping the EIA game: From process to method," presented by Sean O'Beirne in Nelspruit, on Tuesday, 2 December 2013. The day was filled with interesting discussions among a wide variety of specialists, practitioners, developers and even some department officials around the current problems faced in the EIA process. Sean proposed some interesting ideas on EIA in an ideal world, spelling out both process-related and technical qualities. The afternoon was filled with philosophical conversations around science and defining sustainability as well as an interactive group activity. Defining sustainability in terms of human welfare as well as an introduction to the concepts of impact mapping concluded a long but informative day. We would like to thank Sean O'Beirne for an interesting, interactive and informative day that left all participants thinking a little harder about the challenges faced within our industry.

WORKSHOP ON SUSTAINABLE STRATEGIC PLANNING & MANAGEMENT

Workshop participants discuss IAEA

A one-day participatory training and workshop was held 10 October 2013 for IAEA. Hosted by Shahid Beheshti University's Environmental Science Research Institute (ESRI), IAIA member Behzad Raissiyani facilitated the workshop to build capacity on "Sustainable Strategic Planning and Management." The CEO of IAEA, Mrs. Naghme Mobarghei, Assistant Professor of Environmental Planning at Shahid Beheshti University, and 17 other practitioners participated in the workshop, which covered strategic planning and management, fundamentals and application for NGOs, and the Iranian IA system. Participants then worked together to identify IAEA's key strategic objectives and outline its mission statement, and will continue working in the future to develop a long term vision, mission and values in line with IAIA's own mission statement and to develop annual action plans.

IN MEMORY

IAIA Headquarters was saddened to lose one of our own recently. Jeff Torreson, IAIA's webmaster since 2008, lost his battle with cancer in December 2013. Jeff made great improvements to IAIA's existing basic online session and abstract management system and was planning to debut a more advanced system for 2014. He was always very proud of his involvement with IAIA, and we were proud to know and work with him. As IAIA's first webmaster, Jeff is part of IAIA's legacy, and he will be missed. Jeff leaves behind three young sons, and the IAIA Board of Directors has set up a CollegeSAVE account for each of them in Jeff's honor. Please contact info@iaia.org for the account details if you are interested in contributing.

Emelia Brew-Butler, long-time IAIA member and part of the IAIA09 Steering Committee, passed away in July 2013 after a short illness. Emelia, a trained scientist and experienced development practitioner, most recently led the Ghana Tourism Development Company, Ltd in Accra, Ghana. She also had served as Treasurer and Vice-President of the IAIA-Ghana affiliate. We remember and appreciate her many contributions to IAIA.
